NOBODY WANTS THAT GOLD RING.
For nearly 100 years a certain family of working people living in Paris have ended their lives by suicide. From father to son, from mother to daughter, has descended a plain gold ring.
and on the finger of every one of these suicides, as they lay in death, this ring has been found.
Only last year the body of a young man who had killed himself was brought to the Morgue, and on his finger was the fatal golden circlet.
He was the last of his race. The ring was buried with the corpse, from which no one acqualuted with its history will have the courage to remove it.
The mental taint in this family came from some remote ancestor, and was intensified by their recognition of it until it became a control- ling force: and the ring was accepted as imposing upon its possessor the obligation to commit suicide, after the example of the person who last wore it. This form of mania usually orlginates in a disorder of the nervous system, which in its turn arises from anomis, or poverty of the blood, one of the results of imperfect nutrition.
A recent letter from a gentleman living in Norfolk contains the following assertion:—" longed for death; I was afraid of the night; I all Powers necessary for the conduct of the was afraid to be alone, yet. I hated society. I Business of the BANK, as ACTING CHIEF mas afraid that in some one of these hours of MANAGER.

CHAU against my own life, for I know that many had done so from the same cause." The dark hours became a time of terror to him, so he says. He tossed and tumbled on his bed, wondering if morning would ever dawn again. In this case it was not an acousing conscience, as he had committed no offence; the cause was purely a physical one-yet, all too common in Englandindigestion and dyspensia, with the long chain Have OPENED their BRANCH HOUSE in to consequences dragging after it, nervous collapse among them.

He relates that his skin and eyes had been more or less discoloured for years, often of a ghastly and repulsive yellow. This was due to the presence of bile in the blood and tissues. where it had no business to be. But as the weak and torpid liver could not remove it, no other result was possible than the one our friend experioncad. His head frequently ached as though flends had turned it into a workshop and pains chased one another through his body as though he had at least half the maladies catalogued in the popular books on disease.... Yet one thing, and one only, was responsible for all the mischief, namely, the poison introduced into the blood from the decaying food in the stomach and intestines. The cold feet, the Head Office 40, THREADNEEDLE STERET, loss of appetite and ambition, the mental des- West End Office, 25, Cockspur STREET. pendency, the sense of weariness and faligue, the had taste in the mouth, dry cough, giddiness, palpitation, chills, weakness, &c., are a brood of foul birds hatched in one nest, and the mother is always indigestion and dyspensia Time passed somehow, as it always does, whether we laugh or cry, and this man grew heartily tired of a life thus burdened and spoiled. He longed to see the end of it, and no wonder, But the last page of his letter is pitched in a higher key. He says, "When I think of what I was, and what I am now, I can hardly realise the change. For the past six months I have been using a preparation known as Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, and it has actually revolutionised my whole system. One of my tenants recommended it to me, and I tried it just to please him. Now I praise it for myself, and thank the mon who make and advertise it. My troubles are over, and I feel (at 57) as light, elastic, and gay as a boy on his summer vacation. I tell my doctors they are beaten at their own trade by an old German nurse, and so far as I am concerned they can't deny it. I have no more horrible thoughts of self-destruction, for

I find too much enjoyment in living. My thanks are too deep for words." The author of this letter consents to the publication of so much of it as is here printed, but: declines to allow the use of his name, at least for the present, for reasons we are bound to respect. EROS AND ANTEROS.

Charley Fitzhuch found existence metamormucle. He was not the old clergyman's heir, passing under strict entail to his elder brother. His future, therefore, lay entirely at the Rector's disposal, and when in an ebullition of temp r that diving expressed an opinion that the boy had better go into a lawyer's office and begin to try and earn his bread, the advice could not be rejected. At once he was articled to Mr. Belper of Lincoln's Inn Fields, an attorney at law of some fifty years' standing, who had amassed a : large fortune in ! is profession.

To keep him out of mischief, it was arranged that he should bound with a family of position in Bayswater, at least, thus the advertisement, inserted by themselves in the newspaper, qualifled them.
